Dear Young,

Re: An Han DOB: 14/12/1956

I had the pleasure of reviewing An Han in a post angiogram consultation on 13 February 2017. She still has her headaches. I am pleased to report that her CT perfusion reveals adequate cerebral blood flow with no actual impairment evident. Her angiogram does confirm that she has moyamoya disease affecting the left hand side only and that there is a fusiform dilatation of her anterior cerebral which is probably related to her moyamoya disease although the alternative possibility is an incidental dissection. Neither of these needs active treatment.

I was able to discuss this with her via an interpreter today and there are definitely no symptoms of ischaemia and given that she is completely asymptomatic therefore from her disease I do not think there is any need to intervene at this stage. I have made arrangements to review her in a year's time with a CT perfusion and will of course keep you informed.

Yours sincerely,

Dr Rodney S. Allan
