

After much soul Searching, the King made the only decision a King could make. He had to obey the number one law of Mantlelonia.

"It must be done!"

He sent his guards to the royal nursery to take the child away and put it to death.

The Queen is warned before the ~~G~~^uards arrive.
Fearing for her baby, she sends her trusted maid
to bring the child to the old hermit who lives deep in the caves.

"I beg you Augie on behalf of the Queen,
hide her son the Prince. Never let him know who he really truly is. Raise him up."

Pg. 11

Augie's home cave is very cozy.
There is plenty of good food, nice smells coming from his stove.

Any boy would be happy
in this environment.

This is the place
the Prince of Mantlelonia
lived his life as a youth.