WHO WE ARE

There is no status quo in business today—today’s companies must be more competitive, evolve faster, anticipate challenges, and keep a lid on costs more than ever before. Euclidean Business Advisors is a management consultancy focused on using insightful analysis and creative problem solving to help its clients win their competitive race. Inspired by Euclid and his postulates, we believe that business challenges are generally not parallel in nature but rather have multiple intersection points. For example, visions and strategies need to be supported with pragmatism and data. Growth ambitions need to be grounded in cultural fit. Today’s business challenges are solved at intersection points such as these. Many firms provide solutions that fail to address these business connection points resulting in unachievable strategies or rudderless organizational improvements. At EBA, we purposefully and thoughtfully operate at those intersections to ensure paradigm changing and future altering advice, guidance and recommendations.
