

Introduction

This is the first of several illustrations required for a children's book featuring a Teddy Bear Pilot. The book will consist of 7 to 8 full scenery images for each of the pages of the book including the cover and introduction pages. This image outlined below is the main character in the book and will feature in each of the pages of the story.

Illustration.

The image should be of a teddy bear dressed in a pilot's uniform standing in front of his aircraft. The bear should be wearing:

- black shoes
- dark blue trousers
- a dark blue jacket with four gold bands around the cuffs
- A white shirt and dark blue tie
- A blue captains hat with gold wings

The aircraft in the background should be facing the artist at an angle so that the front, cockpit is visible but also so that the side of the aircraft should be visible with 5 or 6 oversized windows (large enough to have character's faces in them late in the story). The tail plane of the aircraft should have a picture of the bear's face as the airline insignia. The aircraft should be white but the jet under each wing should be a different colour, either blue or red, depending on the artist's view.

Below is a sample image which may help – the pilot should be our bear as described and more of the aircraft should be visible so that the tail plane and insignia can be seen.
