

Don't let this scare you! I was just doodling last night while cleaning up my computer.

*I don't have a clue what
this is.*

Some type of clamshell is needed so end user can get into the box to reload business cards.

Coil spring
pusher
assembly
pushing 400
business
cards.

My idea here is both for aesthetics as well as hiding
the seam of the clamshell.

This is the track for the coil spring pusher (don't laugh at
my scribbles!)