With over 650 skus for sale to industry that would find application in the oil & gas markets as well and a large inventory in its stores at Kakinada and Visakhapatnam, Project Sales Corp would be able to offer an unmatched range of consumables from a single source in the region. "We aim to be the first choice for customers by differentiating ourselves through our application based expertise. Unlike other suppliers who are just a source, Project Sales Corp works with limited high potential customers providing the most complete range of solutions to minimize downtime, enhance production and improving workplace safety. Our product range is not determined by what generally sells in the local markets, but by products that have set a benchmark somewhere in the globe in adding value to organizations positively and creating a difference". Satish Agrawal, Business Head, Project Sales Corp, India.
